DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1. Growth hormone and its use to treat brain disorders are known in the art (see WO 9422469, e.g.) and thus do not constitute linking technical features.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 32-39 and 43-51, drawn to methods of treatment using growth hormone, classified in class 424, subclass 198.1.

Group II, claim(s) 40, 41, and 54-58, drawn to methods of treatment by inhibition of growth hormone, classified in class 424, 158.1.

Group III, claim(s) 42, 52, and 53, drawn to methods of ex vivo propagation, classified in class 435, subclass 405.

The methods of group I are not related to those of group II. Group II is drawn to inhibition of growth hormone and growth hormone and its use do not therefore form linking technical features between the two groups.

The methods of group I are distinct from those of group III because they require different method steps; since growth hormone is known in the art, neither the method nor the reagents constitute a linking technical feature.

The methods of group II are not related to those of group III. Group II is drawn to inhibition of growth hormone and growth hormone and its use do not therefore form linking technical features between the two groups.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

For Group I, there are two groups of species:

1. Cell Type:

- a) glial cells
- b) non-cholinergic neuronal cells
- c) cholinergic neuronal cells

These are different cell types with different characteristics; success with one would not render success with another obvious.

2. Disease or condition :

- a) Memory loss
- b) MS
- c) Injury through hypoxia, ischemia, or trauma
- d) Parkinson's disease
- e) Demyelinating disorder

These are different conditions with different causes and different characteristics. Successful treatment of one would not render successful treatment of another obvious.

If Group I is elected, Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable.

For Group II, there is one group of species:

Cell Type:

- a) glial cells
- b) non-cholinergic neuronal cells
- c) cholinergic neuronal cells

If Group II is elected, Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
